

Need to learn a language that isn't taught at Emory?

Apply for SILS

Emory's new program in Structured Independent Language Study

Apply now for Spring 2010!
Deadline: December 16

cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm
sils@learnlink.emory.edu

SILS is a non-credit program designed for students who need to study languages that aren't part of the Emory curriculum. Maybe you're planning fieldwork or service overseas, or want to follow up on a study abroad experience. SILS can provide...

- syllabus and materials for a semester of independent study
- regular meetings with a native speaker for speaking and listening practice
- a final exam, evaluation and certificate

SILS runs every spring and fall semester and is open to all Emory University students (undergraduate, graduate, professional). Visit cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm to apply.

Structured Independent Language Study Program

Apply now for Spring 2010!

sils@learnlink.emory.edu
cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm

Structured Independent Language Study Program

Apply now for Spring 2010!

sils@learnlink.emory.edu
cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm

Structured Independent Language Study Program

Apply now for Spring 2010!

sils@learnlink.emory.edu
cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm

Structured Independent Language Study Program

Apply now for Spring 2010!

sils@learnlink.emory.edu
cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm

Structured Independent Language Study Program

Apply now for Spring 2010!

sils@learnlink.emory.edu
cet.emory.edu/eclc/sils.cfm

SILS
SILS
SILS
SILS
SILS
SILS
SILS
SILS